CHIEF FIRES BACK AT COUNCIL HEARING: 'HE'S VERY MUCH IN THE LOOP'

A routine city budget hearing turned tense Wednesday morning when Deputy Chief Warren Hughes told the Atlanta City Council he was "not in the loop" on the police department's Blackwater Task Force.

Chief Elxa Jackson, watching from the gallery, rose to answer Councilman Leon Hardaway's question about the task force's cost herself: $118,000 a month, offset, she said, by ending an overtime detail at the Governor's Mansion "that nobody in this building has been able to justify since 1998."

"Deputy Chief Hughes is very much in the loop," the Chief said. "He'll be at my table tomorrow morning at nine, with everybody else."

The Governor's office did not return a call seeking comment.

>> POLL: Who won the budget hearing?

The Chief — 57% · Deputy Chief Hughes — 19% · The Governor's Mansion lost — 24%

HUGHES, JACKSON SPAR AT COUNCIL; TASK FORCE COST REVEALED

By Renee Holloway, Staff Writer

The simmering tension between Atlanta's 24-year-old police chief and the veteran deputy many expected to get her job spilled into public view Wednesday.

"The Chief keeps a small table," Deputy Chief Warren Hughes, a 25-year APD veteran, told the Council. "I'm sure she has her reasons."

Council members from both factions praised the Chief's answer afterward. "That," said Councilman Leon Hardaway, "is how you answer a question."

The department's command staff meets this morning to review the Blackwater investigation.

Flats on Auburn Avenue.

- Sweet Auburn, 9:26 AM Wednesday. Two young women in flats, darlings, walking the 400 block of Auburn Avenue with a clipboard and a plat map. One of them is the new two-billion-dollar broker. The other, in camel cashmere, owns the two billion. They stopped in front of the old Hotel Donohue for a full minute. A church mother on the corner told me the one in camel "looked at that building like it owed her money." Whatever are the Smilleys doing on Auburn Avenue? I have my suspicions. I'll keep them until Monday.
 - The West End, 5:45 AM. I'm told a Merriweather & Sons hearse made a delivery to the back door of Dee's Kitchen on Mrs. Dolores Whitfield's birthday. Not that kind of delivery. White calla lilies. Happy fifty-fourth, Mrs. Whitfield. I've eaten your smothered chicken for twenty-four years.
 - The Manor. Night seven. Tomorrow, I'm told, the Chairman returns to the master suite, and Madame Simone has ordered a cake. For the record, the old mark was four nights, set in 1974. The new record is seven. I don't expect it to be broken in my lifetime.

GOLD DRESS, BLACK JUMPSUIT, NO CURFEW

- Velvet, 10:14 PM. The pop star arrived in gold. Her cousin, the Congresswoman's daughter, arrived in black. The pop star left at 11:50 in a town car. The cousin did not. Our source at the bar says she was last seen on the rooftop terrace in a borrowed staff hoodie, talking to the new Wednesday DJ. The DJ from Chicago. The one whose last name rhymes with "really."
- Last night in the library. The Chairman's sentence ends tonight. Our source says the lady of the house sat with him for twenty minutes and left with two cups. That makes three nights of two cups. Somebody tell the Chairman he's forgiven. He won't believe it until he's in the bed.

Thread: "HE'S VERY MUCH IN THE LOOP" — THE CHIEF IS NOT PLAYING

Started by FultonDem_Daryl — 01/12/2005 1:14 PM

FultonDem_Daryl: watched it on the city channel. hughes tried to embarrass her on TV and she answered with the exact dollar amount AND took away the governor's overtime in the same sentence

ATLien_4Life: "that nobody in this building has been able to justify since 1998" is going on a t-shirt

HonestAbe_ATL: A deputy chief with 25 years was just humiliated by a 24-year-old whose grandfather got her the job. You all think this is funny. The cops on the street don't.

SouthsideSaint_78: the cops on the street been buying their own flashlight batteries for 25 years under the OLD guys. what did the old guys fix

ConspiracyKeith: watch the meeting tomorrow. "he'll be at my table at nine." that was a threat wrapped in a bow

ATLien_4Life: keith i am begging you to be wrong once

Thread: HAPPY BIRTHDAY MAMA DEE!!!

Started by Mama_Deese_Biggest_Fan — 01/12/2005 6:02 AM

Mama_Deese_Biggest_Fan: 54 today!! stop by and tell her happy birthday. and TIP your waitress

WestEndWill: a HEARSE pulled up at her back door at 5:45 this morning with flowers. from SILAS MERRIWEATHER. y'all this city is a movie

Mama_Deese_Biggest_Fan: she had yellow roses on the counter too. three dozen. nobody knows who sent those. she just smiled and said "a friend"

SouthsideSaint_78: mama dee got more friends than the mayor

WestEndWill: mama dee got BETTER friends than the mayor

Subject: Smilleys on Auburn Ave??

Posted by GA_Taxpayer1952 — 1/12/05 4:40 PM

GA_Taxpayer1952: My cousin works at the Ebenezer gift shop. Says Esther Smiley walked the whole 400 block this morning with the girl from the news. Are the Smilleys buying Sweet Auburn now?

FultonDem_Daryl: There have been rumors for months that the Mayor wants to announce a big redevelopment down there. If the Smilleys are walking it with a broker, the rumors are true.

RetiredAPD_Sarge: Alexander Donohue's hotel is on that block. If the Smilleys bid on Auburn Avenue, that's not business. That's a declaration of war.

GA_Taxpayer1952: Good. Competition lowers prices.

RetiredAPD_Sarge: Son, when those two families compete, nothing gets lower but the body count.
