RIVAL GANGS STAND TOGETHER AT SLAIN DEACON'S FUNERAL

In a scene longtime residents called "unheard of," two groups of men in dark overcoats lined opposite sides of the steps at Greater Cascade Baptist Church on Saturday morning for the funeral of Lamar Whitlock, 43, the church usher found shot to death in Piedmont Park last Monday.

Witnesses identified one group as associates of Silas Merriweather, owner of Merriweather & Sons Funeral Homes. Sources told Channel 8 the second group is connected to the so-called Blackwater Syndicate. Neither group spoke to reporters.

Channel 8 learned the time and location of the gathering from a source familiar with the investigation.

Updated 7:15 a.m. Monday: APD confirmed Monday that federal agents have taken custody of "certain physical evidence" in the Whitlock and Tuggle cases under a federal court order.

NEW DA REOPENS CASE OF MISSING SOUTHWEST ATLANTA MAN

Darnell Divine vanished New Year's Eve 2001; family's online campaign cited

By Renee Holloway, Staff Writer

Fulton County District Attorney Arianna Cummings has reopened the three-year-old missing-person case of Darnell "Dee" Divine, 22 at the time of his disappearance, and assigned it to the office's Cold Case Unit, a spokesman confirmed Friday.

Divine was last seen leaving a private party on the 3100 block of Northside Drive NW early on January 1, 2002. The Atlanta Police Department classified the case as "inactive" nine days later.

His sister, Harmony Divine, 22, has kept a public online journal, "Find Dee," every week since. In a Friday post she thanked the District Attorney by name. "For the first time in three years, I believe somebody," she wrote.

The case has been assigned to investigator Carla Mims, a 22-year veteran of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation. (Continued on B4)

'NORTHSIDE DRIVE, NEW YEAR'S EVE': DA ASKS BUCKHEAD HOSTS FOR 2001 GUEST LISTS

Cold-case investigator seeks witnesses who may have seen missing man walking

By Renee Holloway, Staff Writer

Letters signed by District Attorney Arianna Cummings went out Monday to homeowners on Northside Drive NW who hosted private gatherings on New Year's Eve 2001, asking them to share guest lists and the names of caterers, valets, and security contractors.

"Somebody saw a young man walking," investigator Carla Mims said. "Somebody always sees. They just never knew it mattered."

At least one recipient, who asked not to be named, called the request "unusual" but said she would comply. "It's the DA," she said. "You don't say no to the DA in her first month."

Monday Notes From the Gilded Hills.

- Night five. Darlings, the Chairman is still sleeping among the first editions. A little bird at the Dowager House tells me Madame Simone is keeping count "like a scorekeeper at Augusta." The record, set during the Nixon administration, was four.
 - A peach cobbler was seen entering the Manor library at 10:14 PM Monday under a sheet of foil. The Chairman's grandson was carrying it. I have no further comment. I am only a reporter.
 - The Park Place on Peachtree. An early riser tells me a very well-known Buckhead attorney's Mercedes was in the visitors' lot at 7:50 AM Saturday. Just a few minutes. Just long enough to pick something up. I print nothing. I only notice.
 - Henri's Bakery reports a Monday-afternoon order of cheese straws for a lady in an ivory suit, delivered to a Peachtree Street law firm. How thoughtful.

THE SLAP HEARD 'ROUND PHIPPS (AND OTHER MONDAY BUSINESS)

- Level 3, Phipps Plaza, 12:07 PM. A certain realtor with a dented silver Civic slapped a certain BSI executive with a black Range Rover. Open hand. Our source (a Saks driver on his lunch break) says it "sounded like a starter pistol." The toddler in the back seat asked if Mommy and Daddy were yelling. CrestWatchers, we have been saying for TWO YEARS that those two know each other better than their lawyers say.
- Night five in the library. Still there. And someone brought him cobbler. From the West End. The lady of the house has not been consulted.
- Tomorrow at 9 AM: The Smiley board convenes on the 72nd floor of their tower for the first time. Our Chicago friends say the heiress is bringing "a surprise." The heiress's brother is reportedly bringing blood pressure medication.
- The Chief spent her lunch hour in the APD evidence room with two FBI agents. Rumor says she lost the coins and won the argument.

Current mood: determined

Current music: Mary J. Blige, "No More Drama"

Her name is Carla Mims. She called me at work today. She's coming to Mama and Daddy's house Friday at four.

She said she can't promise what she'll find. I told her nobody has ever even promised to look. She said, "Then I'll promise that."

She has Dee's picture on her wall. She put one on the DA's wall too.

Two walls. Two women. Three years.

Somebody asked in the comments on Friday why I don't let "people with resources" help. I'll say this once. Anybody who wants to help my brother can print a flyer, or call Ms. Mims if they were on Northside Drive that night. That's it. Dee isn't for sale. He never was.

Lyric is asleep with her giraffe. She told me she rode a pony this weekend. In January. Her godfather spoils her rotten.

Friday at four. Mama is already cleaning.

grady_nurse_lo (Loretta Divine): I've mopped the kitchen twice. Your daddy says the floor is going to wear through.

E.O.S.: Two walls, three years. You did that, Harm. Nobody else. <3 northside_nanny: I worked a party on Northside that night. Babysitting upstairs. I'll call her.

cascadecutz: "Dee isn't for sale." PERIOD.

wiseblood_71: praying for your family. God sees what's hidden.

Subject: DA wants guest lists from Buckhead parties??

Posted by GA_Taxpayer1952 — 1/10/05 8:14 PM

GA_Taxpayer1952: My neighbor got a letter from the DA today asking who came to her New Year's party THREE YEARS AGO. Is this legal?

FultonDem_Daryl: It's a request, not a subpoena. A young man went missing on that road. It's called police work.

RetiredAPD_Sarge: Ray Sams closed that case in nine days. Ray was a good man having a bad year. Carla Mims doesn't have bad years. If there's a thread, she'll pull it.

GA_Taxpayer1952: In my day the DA prosecuted criminals. She didn't go door to door in Buckhead.

FultonDem_Daryl: In your day nobody looked for boys from Southwest Atlanta at all.
