BODY IN PIEDMONT PARK CLUTCHED 'BLACKWATER' COIN

Victim unidentified; new Chief vowed hours earlier to catch syndicate's leader

By Marcus Webb, Staff Writer · Filed 11:52 p.m.

A man found shot to death beside Lake Clara Meer in Piedmont Park late Monday was holding a black onyx coin engraved with a crown and a wave, the symbol associated with the criminal organization known as the Blackwater Syndicate, according to two sources familiar with the investigation.

The man, described as a Black male in his early 40s, carried no identification. A dog walker found him at about 9:50 p.m. Police did not confirm the coin's existence. Police Chief Elxa Jackson, who arrived at the scene in dress uniform, declined to comment.

The discovery came less than 11 hours after Jackson, 24, used her first press conference of 2005 to promise that her new task force would identify the Syndicate's leader, known only as "Sovereign."

SMILLEY TOWER RISES ON PEACHTREE

Chicago dynasty opens 72-story headquarters directly across from Donohue Tower. "I don't declare war. I declare dividends."

By Lorraine Figueroa, Business Staff

At 7:42 a.m. Monday, as the sun came up over Buckhead, 72 floors of silver glass lit up one after another. By 10 a.m. Smilley International had cut the ribbon on its new world headquarters at 3434 Peachtree Road NE, which faces Donohue Tower across six lanes of traffic.

"In 1926, my father was not allowed to get off the train in this city," Chairman Lucius Smilley told a crowd of 300 that included Mayor Josephine Whitaker. "Seventy-nine years later, we brought the station."

The ribbon was cut by Esther Smilley, 22, the company's designated heir. She oversaw the tower's construction in secret through a shell company. Asked if the move was a declaration of war on the Donohue family, she replied: "I don't declare war. I declare dividends."

A spokesperson for Donohue Global Holdings declined to comment. (Continued on D1)

THE TOWER WAR: DONOHUE vs. SMILLEY COMES TO PEACHTREE

The two wealthiest families on Earth now face each other across one Buckhead street, and analysts say the first battleground may be Sweet Auburn. Smilley Estates has quietly optioned at least nine parcels near Auburn Avenue since October, according to county records reviewed by the Sentinel.

Monday's closing prices (publicly traded Donohue affiliates):

Ticker	Company	Close	Change
DFN	Donohue Financial	$184.20	-0.6%
DNRG	Donohue Energy	$96.75	+0.2%
DPHR	Donohue Pharmaceuticals	$142.10	-0.3%
DTEC	Donohue Technologies	$61.44	-1.1%

"The market doesn't think the Smilleys can beat the Donohues," said one Atlanta fund manager. "But the market thinks they can make them bleed a little."

LIVING · "BEHIND THE GATES" by Bernadette Sinclair

Darlings, the neighbors have arrived.

Monday was the most elegant hostile takeover of a news cycle I have seen in thirty years. The Smilleys lit their tower at sunrise, just to make sure one particular early riser eighty-eight floors up would see it with his coffee.

Sightings:

- Odessa Smilley, 84 going on 50, in a floor-length white mink and a diamond brooch I could see from the parking deck. She demanded the Smilley Tower elevators stop playing Kenny G. A woman of taste.

- Esther Smiley, stunning in black cashmere, silencing a certain Channel 8 reporter with a single line about her daughters' "father." More on that shortly.
- Quentin Smiley, arriving at a ribbon-cutting in last night's velvet. Welcome to Atlanta, sugar. We have church here.
- The Donohue compound's great hall was ablaze for a Monday dinner in honor of Congresswoman Jasmine Olson's tenth swearing-in. My spies tell me the Honorable Joan Donohue wore the pearls. Longtime readers know which ones. Grown women gasped.

Blind item: Which newly arrived heiress had her Maybach idle outside a certain crowned gate for nearly a minute Monday morning before speeding away? Curiosity, or reconnaissance?

Birthday watch: Atlanta's most eligible bachelor, Marc-Anthony Bullock, turns 23 on Wednesday. The party at Belle Rive is black tie. Or "fun black tie," depending on which Bullock woman you ask. The guest list is 312 and climbing, and I'm told a courtesy invitation went across the ravine. Don't hold your breath.

BREAKING: Man found dead in Piedmont Park with 'Blackwater' coin

By Celeste Vaughn

WBKG has learned exclusively that the man found in Piedmont Park Monday night was holding a black onyx coin, the notorious calling card of the Blackwater Syndicate. APD would not comment on camera. Chief Elxa Jackson, who vowed Monday morning to find the syndicate's leader, told WBKG only: "No comment."

THE SMILLEYS HAVE LANDED

So it's official, CrestWatchers. The Chicago crew is IN. A château next door with a MOAT (they're calling it a "water feature," sweetie, it's a moat).

Our gate spies report:

- A silver-plated Maybach slowed to a crawl outside the Crown Gate at 8:31 AM. The window went down, then back up, and the car sped off. Somebody was curious. ;)
- The Summit's patriarch did not come home Sunday night. He slept at the office so he could glare at the new tower personally. We love a petty king.
- Our favorite platinum princess and her cousin the Miracle Child spent Monday morning in a kitchen with "a hundred tiny jars." A business venture? Watch this space.
- At a certain Mediterranean palazzo on the bluff, a certain silver-tongued lawyer took a "work call" on the balcony. In January. In a tuxedo shirt. At 5:45 PM. Who calls a man on a balcony, CrestWatchers?

And one more thing. The body in Piedmont Park? The Onyx Coin? On the SAME DAY the Chief promised to catch Sovereign? We don't believe in coincidences here. Neither should you.

Current mood: tired

Current music: Lauryn Hill, "Ex-Factor"

Three years and two days.

Put up 212 more flyers today. Lenox, Phipps, the courthouse, Northside Drive, and the barbershop on Cascade where Dee used to cut.

Lyric sang "twinkle twinkle little Dee" while I was stapling. She's never met her uncle, but she knows his name. I don't know if that makes it better or worse.

The new DA is 22 years old. Same age as me. They say she's reopening cold cases. I'm going to her office this week. If she's for real, maybe somebody finally picks up the phone.

My best friend moved to Atlanta today. She hugged me like she used to in the dorm, and for five minutes I felt like a person again.

Mama still won't go in his room. Daddy drove the 71 today, all day, the whole route, twice.

If you're reading this and you saw my brother on New Year's Eve 2001, anywhere near Northside Drive, please call. $50,000 reward. No questions.

Come home, Dee. <3

Thread: SMILLEYS vs DONOHUES... WHO U GOT??

Started by ATLien_4Life — 01/03/2005 10:14 AM

ATLien_4Life: ok so the smileys really built a whole tower RIGHT across the street from donohue tower. that's disrespectful and i'm here for it LOL who u got

SouthsideSaint_78: DONOHUES all day. they been here since 1924. smileys been here since 7:42 this morning lmao

ChiTownDiva: y'all not ready. smileys got STYLE. esther smiley is the baddest woman alive and she built a SKYSCRAPER in SECRET. at 22. what did u do at 22

SouthsideSaint_78: ChiTownDiva - at 22 i was at Clark tryna pass biology

ChiTownDiva: exactly my point

MsSpelmanite: "I don't declare war. I declare dividends." CHILE. put that on a t-shirt

DecaturDon: real talk the donohues put my grandma through spelman on the alexander scholarship. ain't no smiley ever did that for nobody in atlanta

ChiTownDiva: give them a week DecaturDon they JUST got here

ATLien_4Life: also did anybody see the donohue heir on channel 8 with the paper crown at the kids hospital :(:(that man is too fine to be that nice. something wrong with him KingdomKween404: nothing wrong with marc-anthony bullock except he single :(

ChiTownDiva: esther single too... just sayin ;)

SouthsideSaint_78: now THAT would be a war

Thread: SOVEREIGN KILLING PPL IN THE PARK NOW??

Started by WestEndWill — 01/03/2005 11:41 PM

WestEndWill: channel 8 saying they found a dude in piedmont park with the blackwater coin in his hand. i'm confused bc sovereign don't do stuff like that

Mama_Dees_Biggest_Fan: SOVEREIGN DON'T DO PARKS. sovereign paid off my nephew's hospital bill at grady. sovereign paid my mama's light bill last christmas. somebody setting him up

HonestAbe_ATL: yall defending a criminal organization bc they gave u a turkey -_-

Mama_Dees_Biggest_Fan: HonestAbe_ATL, they gave me a turkey AND a heater. what the city give me? a parking ticket

WestEndWill: the new chief said she gonna catch him. on the SAME DAY this happens. that's crazy timing

ConspiracyKeith: it's not timing. somebody WANTED it on the same day. mark my words

SouthsideSaint_78: whoever did this better hope sovereign finds em before the police do

GA_Taxpayer1952: Her grandfather is Victor Donohue. Her father-in-law was the chief. She is TWENTY-FOUR. My grandson is 24 and he can't find his car keys. How is this legal?

RetiredAPD_Sarge: Say what you want about the family. I worked homicide 22 years. That girl closed the Peachtree Strangler in 11 weeks. I couldn't have done it in 11 months. She's the real deal.

GA_Taxpayer1952: Then why does she need the Donohues?

RetiredAPD_Sarge: Maybe she doesn't. Maybe that's what's gonna make this interesting.
